David,

One more thing regarding question 1 on the summary document you reviewed prior to our visit. This question asked if B. Braun had any information regarding the original Part A application made to USEPA. We could not find any application documents on file (e.g., Notification of Hazardous Waste Activity, Part A permit application) with either USEPA or PADEP that shows B. Braun applied for a hazardous waste permit. Since you have a generator ID number, there must have been some kind of permit application process, but we have no record of it. Also, USEPA lists B. Braun as a treatment, storage, and disposal facility; so, at some point, B. Braun must have received a notification of interim status from USEPA and a call-in for a Part B application from PADEP. Do you have any records of this that would fill this data gap?

Regards,
Tina

Tina,

Take a look at the attached drawing as this is the one I submit yearly (with revisions) to Lehigh County Emergency Management Agency. Please understand that this is confidential information (EtO Storage Location) and should be handled accordingly.

Let me know if this work for you.

Is there any chance you have a very general floor plan layout of the facility showing the locations of the EO system and raw materials/waste storage areas? I can draw one from my notes, but thought it would be a little easier if you had one you could send over to me.

Thanks
Tina
